DE BORTOLI ROSÉ ROSÉ 2025

Season

The King Valley experienced a warmer and dryer than average growing season. Most months in the growing season had maximum day time temperatures above the long term average. Except for a wet November, every month had below average rainfall. The wet November set up the vineyards for the dryer Summer. Even though the maximum daytime temperatures were above average, there were no extreme weather events or extended heat wave periods, just extended hot weather. After Spring, there was very low disease pressure, and careful irrigation ensured the vines maintained a healthy canopy. The grapes were picked in very good condition with good varietal flavours. The reds and our muscats benefited from the warm and dry season with some very good parcels of fruit making 2025 a very strong year. A vintage to savour.

Tasting Note

Delicate fragrance of strawberry, red berries, watermelon and pomegranate with a hint of spice. A delicately structured wine with a textural savoury dry finish.
