Winemaking

Cool climate vineyards from King Valley give the wine great backbone & length, which are blended with the early picked Riverina fruit which offers lovely depth. The fruit is gently pressed and fermented in tank at elevated temperatures to 'blow off' the fruitiness. The resultant wines are light and mineral and have a texture and feel about them that makes them dry and very delicious. Cask-Aged reserve wines are blended in to achieve a house nuance & complexity. The cuvee is then charimated to instil a fine persistent perlage and a glorious mouth filling mousse.
